FOOD SECURITY & WASTAGE IN QC

Friday, 15 November 2024

In the morning of 14 November 2024, Yayen Gallardo of Brain Trust, Inc.> a third party research company doing the preliminary work for QC Government's initiative versus food wastage moving towards food security, interviewed STC online. Just like most inquiries/initiatives by Congress exploring solutions to the same issues, PAGASA's Executive Director suggested that the QC Government tie-up with NGOs in properly handling excess food from establishments especially since these are turned-over after closing hours; hours after they were freshly prepared. Documented and signed turn-over forms for excess food to a QA officer designated by NGO must protect donors from any liability that may arise from spoilage/shrinkage during distribution to target beneficiaries especially those which were mishandled.
